ISAAC M. DILLARD

World War Veteran and Teacher of the County Angouces for Tax Commissioner

Elsewhere in this issue of the Press appears the announcement of Mr. Isaac M. Dillard of the Repton neighborhood as a candidate for Tax Commissioner of Crittenden County, subject to the action of the Republican Primary on August 6.

Mr. Dillard, who for several years has been a successful teacher in the County Schools, was born and raised on a farm and is at present engaged in farming in the Repton neighborhood. He is well and favorably known in many sections of the county and his friends predict that he will make a strong fight from now until August 6th. They believe too, that if he is elected he will be able to perform in an absolutely satisfactory way the duties of the office which he seeks.

On May 24, 1918 he was inducted into the military service of the United States and received preliminary training at Camp Taylor and received final training at Camp Beauregard, La. He sailed for France on August 6, 1918 and landed at Brest France August 18, 1918. After arriving in France he was assigned on October 18 to Hdqrs. Co. 127th Infantry. He participated in the Meuse Argonne offensive October 26 to November 11, 1918. The 127th Infantry was holding front line positions when the Armistice was signed. The 32 Division to which young Dillard belonged was assigned as a unit of the Army of Occupation and marched onto German soil on December 1, 1918 and crossed the Rhine on Dec. 13, 1918. He was stationed in Selters, Germany four months and was given an honorable discharge from the United States Army on May 21, 1919.

Mr. Dillard, whose record as a man, as a soldier and as a teacher, is well known to many people of the county. He earnestly asks your support on the promise to give you honest straightforward service regardless of race or party.

RECENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

There have been several residences built in Marion in the past few months and many more have been remodeled. J. A. Elder has put up a new house on North Main Street. Bob Enoch has built one of the most beautiful dwellings that our city can lay claim to, and he has re-worked two other houses, adding greatly to their appearance.

There have been several houses remodeled in East Marion, among which are those of C. G. Thompson, R. I. Nunn, Tom Wring and G. Thomason.

C. J. Pierce has gone over his dwelling on Bellville giving it an entirely different appearance. Dan Travis has also reworked his residence on Walker Street.

The Jarvis Company that owns the Tobacco warehouse near the depot has built three new concrete bungalows near their warehouse and has rebuilt another.

Among other new houses recently completed are those of J. W. Belt in the new addition on Mound Park Ave., and Creed Taylor's log bungalow and Grant Davidsons on Main Street. L. Clark has remodeled his residence on S. Main and Forrest Harris has added a double veranda to his place in the northern part of the city.

All this building speaks well for Marion.

TOSH-MCNEELY

Mr. Allie McNeely left Marion one day last week and went to Princeton where he met Miss Estelle Tosh and from there they went to Clarksville, Tenn., and were united in marriage in that city. The happy couple arrived in Marion on Monday after spending a short honeymoon in Tennessee.

Mr. McNeely is the son of Prof. J. B. McNeely, one of the most popular school teachers of the county, and was formerly in the employ of the Press but for the last few months he has been working in Elizabethtown, Ky., with the Mirror, a newspaper published in that city.

The bride is a daughter of a prosperous farmer of this county and is a beautiful and refined young lady. Both have many friends who join the Press in wishing them a long and happy married life.

S. B. and Calvin Hunt of Tribune were in the city Saturday.

HOW DO YOU STAND ON THE SCHOOL BONDS?

Numbers of people are honestly trying to get right on the bond issue; they are seeing the merit of the case and are casting their vote and their influence for the school, realizing that the school in Marion has always been her greatest asset.

To get exactly straight about this a little "Bond Issue History" is necessary.

In 1916 there was a bond issue voted to build a new high school building, jointly with the county. This issue was $10,000. $2,500 of these bonds were issued and the money used in buying, with the County Board, the plot of ground on which to erect a new building, and to do some necessary repair work. $7500 of these bonds have never been issued and will not be issued. When this bond issue was voted in 1916 there were outstanding $3000 of a previous issue. Which makes a total outstanding $5500. Of this amount the Board of Education for the city of Marion and district has enough funds on hand as sinking fund to reduce the outstanding bonds to $4500, as stated in the call for election.

Regardless of what you may hear to the contrary the Board of Trustees is trying to build a new high school building for Marion. They have taken the only road open to them to secure the funds. They are putting it up to you, fairly, openly and are asking for your decision. Do you want a new high school building? Yes, you say. Is this the best way to get it? If you know a better way will you please let the board of education know?

If you think this is not the best way and knock without offering a better plan, you are not square in your opinions. The thing resolves itself into one thing and that is, you are opposed to a better school or you are in favor of it. Which?

LETTER FROM ROBERT LEAR

On January the 15th I left home for Calhoun, Ky., where I held a revival with Brother M. M. Murrell, the pastor of the Methodist church, and from there I went to Smith Mills, Ky., for another revival with Brother D. L. Vance, our pastor there. These meetings were a blessing to the people of those towns. The visible results were 201 conversions and recommitments, 121 accessions to the digerent churches, with more to follow, 125 pledges to daily prayer and Bible reading, about 20 family altars erected, one Epworth League restored to activity, and hundreds of definite promises for a more loyal, devoted, active Christian service.

At one service there were five members of one family, all members of the Baptist church converted, reclaimed, renewed, whichever you choose to call it, there were other conversions at the same service also. For five weeks and three days I have preached once every day, twice most every day, and a number of times three times a day, made quite a good many calls, had personal conference with men at different times, with bankers, lawyers, merchants, in my room at the hotel, in the streets, in the homes, and on one occasion I stopped in a shoemaker's shop to see him, and while there we knelt for prayer and he was happily converted. The Lord blessed me spiritually, socially, physically, and financially, therefore to Him shall be all the glory. I am at home for one day then on to Livermore with Rev. E. S. Moore, for another revival. In His name, ROBERT LEAR.

TAKEN TO LOUISVILLE

Mrs. H. V. Escott, wife of Rev. H. V. Escott, who is pastor of the Southern Presbyterian church on Bellville Street, was taken to Louisville Monday to be treated for paralysis. Mrs. Escott was first stricken about twelve years ago and has never fully recovered. She had another attack during this winter and has been in a serious condition since. Her daughter, Mrs. Addison Smith, who is the wife of one of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad officials, had a special private car sent down here Sunday and in this Mrs. Escott made the journey to Louisville.

Misses Velma and Reva Dean of Deanwood were in Marion Monday.

MENS BIBLE CLASS NO. 12 ORGANIZES

The Number 12 Bible Class of the First Baptist Sunday School reorganized last Sunday and entered the South-Wide Bible Class Contest between classes in Baptist Sunday Schools. The contest will cover the months of March, April and May.

It will be based on five points: reaching and holding constituency; use of Six-point record system; average attendance on meetings of class and the preaching service of the church; winning the lost to Christ; and a right attitude toward the main school. Number 12 expects to win the banner over all other Baptist Classes in the South. Help us do it.

Five other classes in the Sunday School also entered the contest; The Berean, The Fidelis, The Euzelian, The Amos, and the T. E. L. Classes. The entire school had 378 present last Sunday and has set a goal of 400 for next Sunday.

EYE TALKS

By Susie E. Gilchrist, Oph. D. Throughout the animal kingdom, various arrangements are found for the sense of sight; but they may be referred to in three types, namely, 1. eye specks; 2. the compound eye; 3. the simple eye. The eye specks which are found in worms and sponges are simply expansions of the optic nerve filaments covered by a transparent membrane so that the creature would have the consciousness of light only. The compound eye which is found in insects and animals with crusts or shells such as shrimps, lobsters and crabs, consists of a series of transparent conelike bodies arranged in a radiate manner against the inner surface of the cornea. Each one is separated from its neighbor and transmits only a small portion of light parallel with its axis. The field of vision being limited by the size and shape of the cornea.

The simple eye is the one common to all vertebrates. It is one of the most delicately constructed organs of the whole body and because of its delicate nature it is placed in a bony socket which surrounds it on all sides except the front which is protected by the overhanging brow, lids, lashes, etc.

FORMER MARION NEGRESS KILLS MATE

Ellis Shelby, colored coal miner and resident of Wheatcroft, was shot and instantly killed by his wife, Stella, at their home, Saturday morning about 8 o'clock in that city.

It is reported that the trouble grew out of domestic disagreements and the couple had been having violent quarrels for quite a while before the killing. The couple were alone at the time of the tragedy.

Shelby was shot over the right eye with a 38 calibre pistol, the bullet entering the brain resulting in instantaneous death. It is alleged that his wife said that Shelby was advancing on her with a knife, which she exhibited, and was threatening her life with it. It was then that she fired the shot. The knife which she showed was a large pocket knife sharp as a razor.

The woman was arrested soon after the tragedy and taken to the Webster county jail at Dixon, by Deputy Sheriff Allen Hudson.

Both the murdered and the murderer had been residents of this city, having moved to Wheatcroft some time ago.

WHISKY FOUND NEAR STURGIS

A raid made on mine No. 2 one and one half miles northeast of Sturgis on last Friday unearthed sixty gallons of whisky in one of the dwelling houses near the mine, that is furnished the miners by the company.

Officials think the whisky was smuggled into the mining camp in anticipation of pay day. Two negroes were found in the house with the liquor and were arrested.

REVIVAL AT COLORED METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. J. W. McClure, pastor, assisted by Rev. Mrs. Elizabeth Morris, of Louisville, closed a meeting at his church Monday night. Mrs. Morris is not only a successful preacher but a gifted singer. The results of the meeting are very satisfactory, there being 42 professions of faith.

Fire has destroyed Marion but plans are on foot to rebuild.

Marion folks don't do things by halves.

The Press stands for a bigger and better Marion.

The boys and girls of Marion NEED a High School Building.

The Fiscal Court recently arranged for the employment of a County Agent for Crittenden County and we are glad that it did. We need a county agent. We want better horses and cattle and hogs.

We want better men and women. We want to give the boys and girls a chance.

Answer their need by voting for the Bond Issue March 5.

PRAISE WORK OF LAST LEGISLATURE

At a meeting of the county school superintendents held at Frankfort a few weeks ago, the members of that body were loud in their praises of the work of the last session of the state legislature of Kentucky relative to the laws enacted in the interest of the schools of Kentucky.

The resolution of the Superintendents follows:

"Second. That we voice our hearty appreciation to the members of the General Assembly, and to the Governor for their wise and unpartisan action in enacting the great progressive educational program of last winter. We urge them to take no step backward, but to strengthen any of these laws that experience shows needs strengthening, and to enact such other progressive measures as may be deemed necessary to give Kentucky a school code in harmony with the best educational practices of the present."

R. E. Wilborn, Bob, was a member of the legislature referred to above at the time of the enactment of those laws which have helped to move Kentucky up several notches on the scale of educational work. His stand on those issues is clearly known. He stood for the rights of Kentucky's childhood two years ago. Give him a chance to use his influence in continuing the good work by voting for him as your candidate for representative on August 6.

POPULAR SHADY GROVE MAN DIES IN EVANSVILLE

Lawrence Horning, a well known and popular young man of Shady Grove, died at an Evansville hospital Monday following an operation for appendicitis. He was stricken suddenly and hurriedly rushed to Evansville, but the operation was futile. The deceased was 20 years old and leaves a young wife to whom he was married two years ago. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tucker Horning, of Shady Grove, also survive. The remains were buried at Shady Grove Tuesday.

The children are Marion's biggest assets. Vote for the Bond Issue and increase your and our assets.

MEETING AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

On going to Press the number of professions is 67. Fifty have united with the church. Great interested crowds attend day and night.

POULTRY

CAUSE HENS TO LAY BETTER

Matter of Feeding During Cold Weather Entails Use of Large Amount of Common Sense.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

On the feeding of the flock depends to a large extent not only the general health of the birds, but also the economy which promotes success. It is a subject, however, which should be studied with a large amount of common sense, for there are no hard and fast rules which can be laid down as applying to every case. The price of feeds and the general environment should be considered in determining the right rations, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

For the largest profit a good proportion of the eggs should be secured during the winter. If two extra eggs a week can be obtained from each hen a good profit will be made, while if the product is increased by only one egg a week in winter, this one egg will pay for all the feed the hen eats. To obtain this greater production not only should the fowls be young and of a good laying breed, but the feeder should have full knowledge of the proper feed and its preparation.

The nutriment in the feed of laying hens serves a twofold purpose—to repair waste and furnish heat to the body and to supply the egg-making materials. As only the surplus available is needed for the body is available for egg production, the proper feeds should be fed in sufficient quantities to induce this production.

In supplying feed to fowls there are three kinds of constituents which should be present in certain fairly well-fixed proportions if the desired results are to be obtained most economically. These constituents are mineral, nitrogenous and carbonaceous; all which are contained in corn, wheat, oats and barley, but not in the right proportions to give the greatest egg yield. In addition some animal feed and green feed should be supplied.

Green Feed is Quite Essential to the Production of Eggs in Winter.

In feeding poultry a valuable lesson may be learned from nature. In spring the production of eggs on the farm is an easy matter. Fowls at liberty to roam find an abundance of green and animal feed on their range, which with grain furnishes a perfect ration for laying hens. In addition to this they get plenty of exercise and fresh air. So far as lies within his power, then, the feeder should aim to make the winter conditions springlike.

RED MITES VERY INJURIOUS

Insects Lower Vitality, Produce Anemia, Reduce Egg Production and Annoy Fowls.

Red mites are blood-sucking insects that live in the houses, in the cracks about the nests, droppings, boards, and perches during the day and crawl onto the bodies of the birds at night, doing serious injury. Red mites lower vitality, produce anemia, lower egg production and greatly annoy the hens. They can be easily gotten rid of by painting the infested places in the house with gas tar, diluted with equal parts with kerosene, or by carbolineum, or one of many good commercial perch paints. It should be kept in mind that the place to fight the mites is the house and not the birds themselves.

CURE FOR EGG-EATING HABIT

Owner Should Make Good Use of Ax on Hen That Has Acquired Depraved Appetite.

The hen that eats her own eggs and those of other hens has formed a habit that cannot be broken. Cut off her head with an ax. A depraved appetite may be acquired by seeing some other hen eat an egg, as one hog learns from another to eat chickens. A lack of food or of grit, especially of meat scrap, may be a contributing factor.

PROPER SHELTER FOR SHEEP

Animals Do Not Require Expensive Buildings but Must Have Protection in Wet Seasons.

Sheep do not require expensive buildings, but should have some protection from wet weather. A shed open to the south with a well-drained yard is excellent quarters in which to house sheep.

JUDGE CHAMPION MENTIONED FOR OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR

Judge Thomas W. Champion, former attorney of Marion and now a resident of Ardmore, Oklahoma, has been favorably mentioned as a candidate for the Governorship of Oklahoma in the next race. Judge Champion and his brother were formerly practicing attorneys here. Thomas W. moved to Ardmore some ten or twelve years ago and has gained a position of prominence in that city. He is a son in law of Judge Aaron Towery of the Shady Grove section. The following is an article published in the Daily Ardmoreite.

"When Judge Thomas W. Champion of the Carter county district court has finished with the trial of Clara Smith," said an Oklahoma City politician "he will have received in advertising more newspaper space than he could buy for $50,000."

It is the opinion of this man that Judge Champion can take advantage of this acquaintance with the people and be elected governor next summer a year.

The opinion is frequently expressed in Ardmore that Judge Champion can be elected governor without the advantage of any newspaper notoriety whatever. He is one of the cleverest orators in the state, he is a man of striking appearance, he is a man far above the average in intelligence, he can meet his carrier and banker on the same level and make both feel that they have been honored by possessing a claim upon his friendship and he has that indescribable something that is possessed by all big men of provoking loyalty in the hearts of the people.

If Ardmore should make up its mind to save the state for Democracy in the next election it could not do better than to put Judge Champion in the race.

There is a general feeling being expressed over the state that men who are now connected with the state government will not make as good candidates as those on the outside and this sentiment would be favorable to a man like Judge Champion.

The race is too far off to justify any one in speaking in positive terms but it would not be a bad idea to have the matter of Judge Champion's candidacy thought of in a serious manner.

LISANBY FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

To Crittenden County Democrats: For some thirty years Caldwell Democrats have unselfishly supported worthy Democratic sons of Crittenden county for Circuit Judge, and other much more important offices. Caldwell has never furnished either Circuit Judge or Attorney. From an unselfish standpoint do you not think the nomination for Circuit Judge should come to Caldwell this year? I do not believe my qualifications for this important office will be questioned by opponents.

Before announcing I will be glad to hear from Crittenden Democrats favoring my nomination; your letter to me will be treated strictly confidential; may I not hear from you?

Thanking you sincerely, and hoping for Democratic success,

I beg to remain, yours,
R. W. LISANBY, Princeton, Ky.

AGED MINISTER DIES

Rev. Milton Cockerel, of Muskogee, Okla., and formerly of the Fredonia section, died recently in Oklahoma. His remains were brought to the New Bethel church for interment Tuesday. Rev. J. C. Lilly conducted the services.

KNOW THAT YOUR SEED CORN WILL GROW

The long growing season for corn in 1920 caused the most of us to believe that the corn, when harvested, was fully matured, well dried out and in good condition for seed.

But recent tests show that the corn did not dry thoroughly and it is likely that the vitality of much of the corn we have saved for seed is low.

For this reason it is very important that every ear of seed corn should be tested before it is planted next spring.

Poor seed is one of the chief causes of a poor stand and a poor stand means a small yield.

There is nothing else that will do so much to increase the yield of corn on every farm as the making of germination test of six or eight kernels from each ear to be used as seed and discarding those ears which show weak or sickly roots or stem sprouts. The most common mistake is to conclude that we can judge the germinating power of seed corn by looking at it and that it does not need testing.

A few days spent during March in selecting and testing our seed corn may be worth more to us at harvest time than a whole year's hard work.

It is nothing more nor less than good business for us to know that the seed we put into the ground is healthy seed and that it will grow. And the only way we can tell good seed is by testing it.

One man in two days can test enough corn to plant 40 acres of ground. Testing will not cost to exceed 10 cents an acre. Yet, because it is "too much bother" to test corn, we pick out 600 ears, look at them, guess that they will grow, and plant them. As a consequence, more than 12 acres out of every 40 planted to corn in the average Corn Belt state produce nothing.

By testing we get rid of the dead, weak, disease-infected and mouldy ears. Testing does not hurt the corn. It requires but little time and that at a season of the year when we have little to do. By testing we have everything to gain, and nothing to lose.

There are several methods of testing corn but the limitations of this article will not permit of a description of any of them. Any county agent, any agricultural college, or any good farmer will be glad to tell his neighbor how to test seed corn.

After the corn has been tested, sorted, shelled and graded for the planter and the bad kernels removed it should be placed in half bushel sacks and hung up in a dry place. We should put in a sack separate from the rest, the seed from the best 100 ears. When planting, we should use the seed from these "best 100 ears" on one side of the field and pick the seed corn from these rows next year.

If you have no good seed corn you should buy from your neighbors or some one in the community. We should not import seed corn from outside our immediate vicinity. Thousands of individual ear tests prove that home grown seed will yield on an average from eight to 20 bushels of corn more to the acre than will imported seed. The best plan is to grow your own seed and test every ear intended for planting.

Investigations conducted over a period of several years by various agricultural colleges and by the U. S. Department of Agriculture have proven beyond a doubt that rot diseases of the corn root, the stalk and the ears have been one of the chief causes of thin stands, of large numbers of weak and stunted plants; of stalks that are down, or leaning, or broken, of barrenness and nubbins; of chaffy immature ears; of reduced yields.

It is possible that rot diseases carry over from one year to another in the soil; it is certain they carry over in the seed, and one of the best methods for the control of these rots is the selection of disease-free seed ears.

The germination test will help you in picking out these diseased ears. Kernels that are diseased may show good germination but the stem sprouts will be discolored—pink or brown or some other shade that will readily show the experienced corn grower that something is the matter with them.

In some instances a diseased seedling looks apparently healthy, except that it has a small number of roots. Such kernels should be cut open with a knife to see if they are rotted or moldy on the inside.

The safest rule is: Discard every ear that looks suspicious.

WATER IS PRIME REQUISITE

Labor of Watering Stock Can Be Practically Eliminated by Installing Automatic Bowls.

Many dairy farmers are still depending on their hired help to lead the cows to the watering trough for water during the times they are confined to their stalls, depending on the workman to remember when a cow may need water and requiring much of the man's valuable time in watering the stock.

The labor of watering the stock can be practically eliminated and at the same time the milk production of the cow increased by installing sanitary automatic watering bowls.

Most dairy farmers realize the importance of an abundance of pure water for the cow, but do not realize the cost of labor consumed in watering the cow, nor the importance of the cow getting her drink just when she wants it, says Dairy Farmer.

About 87 per cent of the milk is water. A cow requires 8 gallons of water to produce 10 gallons of milk, besides the water she needs for her body. She requires 2 1/2 pounds of water for each pound of milk produced. Why supply high-priced feed to increase milk production and neglect to give her sufficient water?

In answer to letters sent to dairy farmers in 15 states using various makes of water bowls, which will allow the cow to drink at any time, 65 replies stated that there was a saving of labor ranging from one-half hour to five hours per day. An approximate average of these would be about 1 1/2 hours, depending upon the size of the herd.

DAIRY CATTLE NEED SILAGE

Succulence It Supplies Is Very Necessary for Large Milk Production—Cheapest of Feeds.

Silage is the best and cheapest form in which to store succulent feed. Many forage crops can be made into silage, but corn, where it can be grown successfully, makes the best silage.

Good silage depends upon cutting the crop at the right stage, fine cutting, even distribution, thorough packing and plenty of moisture in the cut material. When rightly put up and carefully fed, there should be little if any loss through spoiling.

Silage is well suited for feeding to all live stock. Dairy cows need it perhaps more than other classes of animals, because the succulence it supplies is very necessary for large milk production. It is a cheap and economical feed for beef cattle, from breeding cow to fattening steer. Sheep like it, and it is well suited to their needs. Even horses and mules may be fed limited quantities of good silage with excellent results.

OBTAIN PROFIT IN DAIRYING

Feed Prices Have Slumped While Price of Butter Still Remains at High Figure in Cities.

Feed prices down 50 per cent or more and butterfat prices still high should mean that men who are now milking cows or who get into the dairy business will make money. Corn and alfalfa have made decided drops in price, while butter is still retailing around 60 cents a pound in these cities. Hence the best way to market these two feeds would appear to be through stock, especially milk cows. A few good milk cows, with feed as cheap as it now is, assures an income and should mean a good profit.

FAULT IN CREAM SEPARATOR

Often Happens That Foreign Matter Lodges in Screw Causing Defect in the Flow.

If the flow from the cream separator seems smaller than ordinary, it usually pays to investigate. In spite of all precautions, often happens that foreign matter lodges in the cream screw thus causing part of the cream to be retained with the skim milk. A test of the skim milk will tell.

DEVELOPMENT OF GOOD COWS

Typical Letter From Dairymen Aiding in "Better Sires—Better Stock" Campaign.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

To illustrate how a good herd of cattle may be developed from a small beginning, the United States Department of Agriculture makes public the following letter from a farmer near Nokesville, Va. This letter is typical of many contributed by practical farmers aiding in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign.

"I am a farmer and dairyman. I milk 75 cows and raise about two calves a year so as to be able to cull my herd two cows a year and replace with young calves.

"I started with common grades of all kinds, but they were good ones. Then I began using my neighbor's purebred bull, and kept the best heifers. But this was slow progress, so I bought six grade Holstein heifers and also a purebred bull. Then I added two purebred cows.

"I now find a ready sale for stock I wish to sell, even for my grades. When one uses a good bull and good cows, well cared for, he does not have any scrub calves."

The letter points out clearly how it is possible for one to develop gradually into a breeder of purebred and high-grade live stock.

SEPARATE STALL FOR COWS

Youngsters Prevented From Crowding and Nursing Each Other's Ears—Expense Is Small.

A Wisconsin farmer, who had a number of calves, thought it might be well to find some means of keeping them separate while feeding. They pushed and pulled and "nursed" each other's ears so that the stronger ones were well fed while the weaker went hungry. Steel stanchions were an expense which he did not feel was justified with his small herd.

At little cost and with small labor he built wooden stalls to which the calves could be tied while feeding. Board partitions separate them more completely from one another, and individual earthenware bowls, which fit into a wooden frame, form separate feeding devices which may be easily renewed and cleaned.

RIGHT SPEED OF SEPARATOR

If Bowl Does Not Travel at Proper Speed Inefficient Skimming Will Be the Result.

The speed at which the cream separator is operated is a matter of importance. If the bowl does not travel at the proper rate of speed, inefficient skimming will be the result, too much butterfat being left in the skim milk. A decrease in the speed of the machine will cause a decrease in the fat test of the cream, while running the machine too fast will cause an increase. Care should be taken to operate the separator at the speed designated by the manufacturer. To be sure that the machine is being run at the correct speed the revolutions of the crank should be timed by a reliable indicator or a watch.

Carlsbad Now Karlovy Vary

Scene in Karlovy Vary.

WHEN EUROPE'S best advertised health resort awoke one morning to find its postoffice changed from Carlsbad, Austria, to Karlovy Vary, Czechoslovakia, the mental shock to the German inhabitants must have been somewhat like the occasional explosions of its hidden wells, from which its famous mineral waters come, says a bulletin of the National Geographic society.

Though it is located in Bohemia, the Englishman had introduced afternoon tea, and the American had made tennis popular, but the 17,000 permanent residents, who remained in Carlsbad after the annual influx of some 70,000 visitors, were essentially German, and Karlovy Vary remains so, according to the press reports.

Hence it is easy to understand how this island of Germans, under Czech rule, approached a political boiling point. Dispatches told of open display of Emperor Franz Joseph's portrait, and of the refusal of the native sons, who live by means of the saline waters and salt derivatives, to call Carlsbad by any other name.

Discovered by Charles IV.

Traditions had it, and the inhabitants preferred to believe, that Emperor Charles IV, discovered the healing power of the waters that gush through the vents of the mammoth lid that nature clapped down over a seething caldron far beneath the surface.

Atop this vast subterranean lake of molten mineral and hissing steam a river, the Tepel, flows lazily down a narrow valley whose slopes are softened by beautiful trees and traversed by winding trails and paths. Among these, some physicians intimate, the health hunters gained the rosy cheeks and buoyant spirits for which the springs receive overmuch credit.

It is just before the Tepel enters the Eger that the underground streams pierce the crust at numerous points, and furnish the waters used for bathing and drinking by those who could afford to go there; and either bottled or boiled down by the millions of gallons, for its salt and soda content, and shipped to all quarters of the globe.

During the season at pre-war Carlsbad the guest at any of the numerous hotels would be awakened at 6 o'clock, or even earlier, and would arise to join the procession toward the springs. At a popular one, such as the Sprudel, from which flow 440 gallons of water a minute, at a temperature of 103 degrees, Fahr., he might have to wait 15 or 20 minutes until a white-capped maid served him. For his protection, large glass covers were erected over many of the springs, and from an airplane Carlsbad might resemble a field of conservatories.

But to linger too long among the springs of Carlsbad is to miss its history. Here there is a grim sort of symbolism. For it was here, just 100 years ago last August, that Metternich plotted to clamp down the lid upon free speech, free press, and untrammeled teaching in the German states.

Origin of the "Carlsbad Decrees."

There were signs that liberal agitation among Germans was reaching the boiling point. Autocracy was threatened. Prince Metternich of Austria arranged to have sympathetic representation from Austria, Prussia, and seven other states of the German confederation at Carlsbad, and then called them together in a hurry, under pretext of need for summary action.

Out of the conference came the famous "Carlsbad Decrees," and there can be little doubt but that the tinder for the world explosion in 1914 was lighted at Carlsbad. There was formulated the policy, later carried to a relentless conclusion by the German empire, of press censorship, of state regulation of teaching in universities and all other schools, and a commission was created to inquire into utterances opposed to the monarchical principle which every German state was pledged to maintain.

Only sixteen years before Metternich conceived this method of political repression, Carlsbad was nearly blown up by the forces beneath the crusted surface. Now, to quote a traveler, "The most dangerous portions are firmly battened down, under solid masonry, held together with iron and steel, while the rest of this Metternichian policy of repression is modified by the modern idea of providing safety valves, through which rise the springs."

Capitalizing the mineral waters was the principal industry, but not the only one, of Carlsbad. In the vicinity were porcelain works, and the shopper of the days when the wealth and fashion of three continents gathered there might purchase Bohemian glass and beautiful trinkets of many kinds, representing the Czech handicraft.

MOURN OVER LOST CHANCES

Few Who Do Not Claim to Have Had Great Opportunities, and Lost Them.

In an article in People's Magazine Hugh S. Fullerton tells of millions of dollars' worth of ideas running to waste.

"I'd rather have the idea I failed to follow up than the ones I made my money out of."

That was said to me by a man who ranks among the wealthiest in the country and who is credited, among his associates, with almost supernatural wisdom in evolving ideas and seeing their possibilities.

"Every man had one or more big chances to get to the top," he continued. "If you don't believe that, just get into any crowd of men, tell some yarn of an opportunity that you had, and overlooked, and then listen to them. Chances are every one of them will have a better story of lost opportunity than you told, and nine out of ten of them will tell a wonderful story of how some other man 'stole' their great ideas and got rich or famous from them. Examine into these stories and you will find, in the majority of cases, that the man who claims to have originated the idea did not do it at all, that he did not see the possibilities of it, or that, even if he did, he was not smart enough or lacked the initiative to follow it up."

There are more chances for men to get rich now than there ever were before in the history of the world, and more big chances being overlooked. Whether it is because men lack faith in themselves or because they prefer a humming bird in the hand to an eagle in the air, I don't know. They seem to think a man must be a super-genius or a great inventor."

I reminded him that he had a reputation as an originator, as an inventor and genius. In addition to being a successful organizer.

"Bunk," he asserted. "I do not claim to have originated anything. My success has been due to seeing the possibilities of an idea and working out the details so as to apply the idea to practical business. Probably a thousand men thought of the same things I did before I was born, and did not develop them. Some of my most successful ideas probably were talked over and dreamed over by hundreds who failed to work them out practically."

Insect Idiot.

Scientists tell us that when a grasshopper catapults his corporate self into space by the propulsive power of his hinged hopping poles he has no idea where he is going to light. It may be in the lake or the brush fire or the kerosene can or the pansy bed; it is all the same to him. Examine his countenance. He looks the perfect fool: At the top of the head two bulging eyes as expressive as the eyes of a dead carp; and below this is a nose like a wooden plowshare. This is all. There is no forehead, no brain and no room for one. The grasshopper, we find, is an insect idiot. The best he ever did was to keep out from under the foot of his betters.—Minneapolis Journal.

Four members of the Miami aquarium association recently went on a fishing trip in the Bahamas and caught a 3,000-pound devil fish.

MAKE COMPOST HEAP FOR USE IN GARDEN

Start By Laying Down Bed of Fresh Stable Manure

Organic Rubbish, Decayed Vegetables, Dead Vines, Weeds and Other Truck May Be Used—Size Plot Necessarily Varies.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Garden waste, decayed vegetables, dead vines, weeds, and the organic rubbish that collects about the place during a busy summer may be cleaned up and put to work again through the agency of a compost heap. Start the heap by laying down a bed of stable manure which has not been burned or heated. The size of the plot will vary with the amount of refuse to be used; for ordinary uses, if the bed is under 8 feet long by 6 feet wide and 2 feet deep it will serve the purpose. Over the manure spread a two-foot layer of refuse and cover it with another layer of manure. This last layer need be only a foot in thickness. Repeat the layers until all the waste has been disposed of and then cover the whole with a layer of earth.

Don't Leave Manure in Piles Exposed to Weather Conditions Favorable to Loss By Washing—Use It to Make a Compost Heap.

If it is desired to add to the heap from time to time the top layer may be opened and the new material emptied into the hole thus made. This is convenient for the suburban home where there is no animal to consume the kitchen waste. In the spring the heap is well mixed with a fork and the compost is ready to be spread on the garden plot. The heating manure will effectively destroy any weed seed present and will also break down the structure of most of the materials that have been thrown upon the pile. The process may be continued indefinitely by simply adding enough manure to insure heating. Compost is especially valuable for use in hotbeds and coldframes.

CLEANING UP INSECT PESTS

Many of Hibernating Species May Be Destroyed in Winter By Cleaning Up Obscure Corners.

Much can be done now to reduce the possibility of insect plagues next summer if a little effort is directed toward the destruction of insect shelter areas. Around the grounds and gardens, under hedges, beside ditches, and in fence corners are bunches of insect sheltering weeds or grass. By the time cold weather approaches many kinds of insects in the adult or immature stages have taken full advantage of these nooks and hidden away there for the winter. The bureau of entomology, United States Department of Agriculture, says that if these spots are cleaned up and the refuse cut and burned, many of these hibernating insects will be destroyed and the damage from such pests during the coming season will be materially lessened.

PROVIDE BATH FOR POULTRY

Chickens Cleanse Themselves by Wallowing in Soil and Dust Box Should Be Accessible.

Chickens never wash, as many other birds do, but cleanse themselves by wallowing in soil. Where board or cement floors are used in the chicken house, some means for dusting should be provided during the winter months. Say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. For a flock of 50 to 60 fowls a dust box 3 by 5 feet or 4 by 4 feet will generally be found large enough, and should be placed where it can be reached by sunlight during as much of the day as possible.

Fine, light, dry dust is the best kind with which to fill the box, but sandy loam is good. Road dust is recommended by many, but it is apt to be filthy. Coal or wood ashes may be mixed with the soil if desired.

FARM FOR CENSUS PURPOSES

Is All Land Which Is Farmed by One Person, Either by His Own Labor or With Assistance.

According to the 1920 census there are 6,440,958 farms in the United States. A "farm" for census purposes is all the land which is directly farmed by one person, either by his own labor alone or with the assistance of members of the household or hired employees. When a landowner has one or more tenants, renters, croppers or managers, the land operated by each is considered a "farm."

Illinois Central System Passenger Trains Noted for Being on Time

The only record showing the percentage of on time arrivals at destinations of the passenger trains on all the railways of the United States was made by the United States Railroad Administration for the months of August, September, October and November, 1919. These four months are considered by railway men to be as favorable for railway operation as any period of the year. This record compared with that made by the Illinois Central System passenger trains for the same period, follows:

ALL RAILWAYS	ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM
August 83 percent	95.4 percent
September 84 percent	96.2 percent
October 84 percent	95.4 percent
November 62 percent	96.2 percent

During 1920 the Illinois Central System operated 79,022 passenger trains on its more than 6,000 miles of lines in fourteen states of the Mississippi Valley. The percentage of on time arrivals at final destinations by months, was as follows:

January	93.4
February	96.2
March	94.0
April	93.4
May	94.2
June	96.4
July	96.9
August	96.2
September	96.7
October	97.3
November	97.0
December	93.8

believing that the assurance of arriving at destination on time is an essentially important factor in passenger train service, the Illinois Central System is seeking constantly to improve this phase of service. Maintenance of schedule, however, is but one feature of the incomparable passenger service offered by the Illinois Central System, every feature of which is distinctly outstanding.

The equipment of the famous Panama Limited, operated between Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans, represents the highest known standard of the art of railway carriage construction. The Panama Limited has been designated by its patrons as "the finest train in the world."

Illinois Central System Passenger trains are noted for the safety with which they are operated. More than three and one half billion passengers have been carried one mile since a passenger riding in a proper position was injured fatally.

Another outstanding feature is the character of service rendered by Illinois Central Trainmen—the courtesy and attention with which passengers are served, in which we take great pride.

Conscious of our obligations to the public, we are making every effort consistent with honest, efficient and economical management to render a service that will not only please our patrons, but will justify them in commending it to their friends and acquaintances.

In its passenger service, as in all other departments of its organization, the Illinois Central System seeks the co-operation and confidence of its patrons.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

MARION SCHOOL Bond Issue Bulletin

Election, Saturday, March 5th, 1921

WHAT THE OLD BOND ISSUE IS

About four years ago Marion voted on and passed a $10,000 bond issue. These bonds were to be sold and the proceeds used in building a new school building and enlarging the present school. $4,500 of these bonds were issued and sold and $3000 of the money used in taking up old bonds and the remainder in acquiring more school property. It was expected that the remaining bonds were to be used in building the new building, but owing to the rise in prices of building material this could not be done, so the $7,500 have never been issued.

Since the voting of the bonds then, a 15c tax has been levied to retire the bonds or to redeem those bonds. This tax you have paid since the issue and will continue to pay until those bonds have been retired or redeemed.

The $7500 not being sufficient to start a building it was decided that they be not issued, but that a new issue be made sufficient to build a school.

If this new issue is voted the $7500 voted some years ago will not be issued, and you will still pay the 15c rate as you have been paying it.

BOARD OF EDUCATION STATEMENT

The Board of Education states that the success or failure of the Bond Issue will in no way affect the tax rate in Marion for this year.

ARE YOU HUNTING EXCUSES?

If you have a REAL reason for voting against the bond issue you might be excused. But there is not a REAL REASON.

If you are hunting for EXCUSES you can find plenty of them. You do not have to hide behind a REAL REASON but EXCUSES are made to hide behind.

The question of TAX RAISE is not a reason, merely an EXCUSE.

THE FACT ABOUT THE BOND ISSUE AND YOUR TAX RATE

Will the voting of the $20,000 in bonds raise the tax rate in Marion? This question has been asked several times during the past week. Some have gotten the impression that it will; while others understand that it WILL NOT. Why it will not is answered in the Call issued by the County Judge, which may be read on any of the sign boards in Marion. Read the Fourth Paragraph of the Call and you will find these words:

"Whereas, it (further) appearing that the present 15 cent tax levy in said district for school bonds is deemed sufficient, annually levied, to redeem the proposed bond issue as they mature, and also the outstanding $4,500 bonds as they mature, or to provide for the accumulation of a sinking fund to retire them at maturity....."

This clause is very plain and should not be at all misleading. It plainly says that the "PRESENT 15c TAX LEVY" is "SUFFICIENT;" that there will be no extra levy for bonding purposes above that which you paid this fiscal year and many years before this.
